New Lenox Board Sets Up Rules For Public Jobs

Contractors doing public work in New Lenox must pay a license fee, post a $1,500 bond and also carry public liability and property damage insurance, according to the terms of an ordinance adopted by the village board there at a session last week.

Public work, it was explained, would cover any municipal owned property, sewer, water, streets, buildings, alleys, sidewalks, etc.

Contractors engaged in such work would pay a $5 license fee. He also would have to obtain the proper permits before starting such jobs.

His insurance policy must provide for possible payment of $50,000 for injury or death (one cannot collect as much for wrongful death in Illinois as for bodily injury) with $100,000 top. The policy must also protect the village and the contractor against liability for property damage up to $25,000.

The village of Orland Park also has adopted an ordinance requiring that contractors working on sewer and water installations carry similar insurance to keep the village clear of any damages in the event of accident.

In Orland a property owner himself cannot do work on installing or repairing sewer mains on his own land without providing for bonds and insurance.

See Geuther As Candidate In JP Race

Republican committeemen from the central or No. 2 district in the justice of the peace set up will meet Thursday night to fill a vacancy on the ticket caused by the death of Walter (Bus) McKay last week.

McKay, who had been nominated as one of the three candidates for JP on the Republican ticket in the second district died of a sudden heart attack.

Attorney Albert H. Krusemark, Frankfort, chairman of the second district, had been empowered to fill any vacancies on the ticket but before taking action he consulted with State's Attorney Frank H. Masters, who in turn went into a huddle with the attorney general.

It was the opinion of the state's attorney and the attorney general that it would be best to call a caucus of the Republican committeemen of the district and let them vote on the question.

As a result the special caucus is now set for 8 p.m. Thursday in the supervisor's room at the courthouse in Joliet.

Political observers look on Grant B. Geuther of Frankfort as the logical choice of the caucus to fill the place on the ticket to fill the place on the ticket. Geuther finished fourth in the original primary. Besides that, they point out, he is from a strong Republican section that to date has only been represented by a Democrat, George Sangmeister, Frankfort attorney. A candidate is needed from Frankfort to offset this, the politicians say.

Mokena Board To Get Bid On Job Of Re-Numbering Streets

Residents of Mokena, in many cases, are slated to have new house numbers in the near future. A special committee of the village board is working on a re-numbering plan which they hope will expedite the post office department's home delivery program.

Members of the committee, Stanley Williams, William Munch and Phillip Hacker have been given a suggested plan by the Illinois Municipal League that has been reported successfully used in other communities. Use of a professional census taking firm that specializes in re-numbering cities and villages has been proposed. It would do the job much more efficiently and be less expensive than if the village attempted the project itself, the committee was told. They have contacted several firms and expect a bid shortly.

The League suggested a pattern to follow that would require a number change for every 50 feet of street frontage. Their outline required a change of numbers beginning with three digits at the geographical division points. For example: At the present division points of Front street and Wolf road the numbers begin east, west, north and south begin with 1 under the League's method, numbering would begin with 100. The reason for this change was not explained in the material received by the group, but follows an idea proposed by the postal department that is supposed to aid post office clerks and carriers.

This program may also require the re-naming of some streets where there are duplicate or confusing similar names. The Mokena Lions Club has the machinery in readiness to erect street identification signs when the numbering is completed.

Mayor James Marti announced last week that work on the completion of the new road surface on Front Street between Wolf road and Mokena street is to be resumed shortly. Marti said the final stages of project will get under way early in April after a few days of weather with temperatures remaining at 40 degrees or more above zero.

At the regular meeting of the Mokena village board Tuesday, March 8, the group heard a plea by Harold Cooper of Cooper Hostert garage, for assistance in directing traffic in front of his building while automobiles are being unloaded from transport carriers. The board agreed to have the traffic officer on duty assist him when the occasion rises.

The village fathers also approved monthly bills totaling $5,313.32 included the annual bond and interest payment to the American National Bank, Chicago and $592.20 to Mulford Engineering Co., Chicago Heights, for consulting services.

Building permits issued by Village Clerk Alvin Sorensen and approved by the board include those issued to Michael Dirig for the construction of a dwelling and garage in the 300 block on Third St. A similar permit was also issued to Louis Rauch who will also build a home and garage on the 300 block on Third Street. The Welch Lumber and Supply Co. was granted permission to erect an addition to their lumber storage sheds to the rear of their main building on Wolf road.

The village clerk also announced that dog licenses are due April 1st. The fee is set at $2. Last year fees totaled $172.00 for the 86 licenses issued. The total is expected to run higher this year due to the increase of the dog population within the village limits. Dog owners are required to show inspection certificates when application for licenses are made.

SKY WORKERS—These chaps from the P & D Antenna Co., of Kankakee, were just putting the finishing touches on the transmitting antenna atop the Frankfort water tower when this picture was taken. The receiving antenna was not in place when the photograph was made but it runs up from the bracket that appears to be about level with the roof edge. The station located in the Frankfort village hall will receive messages from the office of the county superintendent of schools in the event of disaster or approaching disaster and immediately and automatically transmit them. The installation is being made as a part of the Civil Defense program in the area. The transmitting antenna—it's that section that looks like a piece of black pipe—is 18 feet long and its tip is just under 175 feet above ground. If it were 175 feet it would be necessary to mark it with a red light as a warning to aircraft, it was said. On Friday (tomorrow) some test programs were scheduled to be made from Frankfort. On School Matters

The Illinois Education Association, thru its publicity section, is now endeavoring to use the newspapers of the state to carry on its propaganda campaign for doing away with the state superintendent of public instruction as an elected official. The IEA would have the constitution amended to make the office appointive. It is sending out small cartoons which suggest that this be done.

We do not like the idea. An official appointed to serve the public owes nothing to the public nor has he any responsibility as far as the public is concerned. His only responsibility is to the men who appointed him, probably in this instance the governor.

One of the reasons set forth for appointing rather than electing a state superintendent of schools is that it would take the office out of politics. Those advancing such a thought are either quite simple or totally ignorant of the facts of life if they believe that politics do not enter into appointments.

We prefer to have principal public officials elected. We know there has been a move for several years now by advocates of the city and county manager plans and other big government boys to push for the appointment of administrators. One of the bellwethers of the city manager plan stated in a speech at Springfield several years ago that the ultimate aim was to have all administrative officers appointed. Only the legislative officials would be elected if that plan was carried thru.

And when one considers that the President of the United States, the governors and the other top level officials are looked upon as administrators one can see what a field day the bosses would have in passing out these jobs.

One may say it can't happen here. Don't be too sure. Get enough people sold on the idea plus those who don't care and a great many changes in the constitution could be brought about thru amendment.

Nor can one be certain what a packed supreme court could do in the way of interpreting the constitution. Some of its decisions have been of considerable concern to state supreme court justices.

Three years ago 36 chief justices of state supreme courts adopted a report in which it was stated "... the supreme court too often has tended to adopt the role of policy-maker without proper judicial restraint. ..."

If we approve appointment of a state superintendent of public instruction you may be sure that other interests will seek similar action in other fields.

A lot of people believe that the larger a thing is the better it is. There has been considerable talk of establishing a state school board as well as appointing the state superintendent of schools. One scheme is to have this board appointed too.

We believe it is to the best interest of the schools to keep their control at local level, operated by board that are elected and therefore responsible to the public.

There is a feature in one of the dailies circulating in the area dealing with manners. It is a sort of capsule form of the how-to-make-friends-and-influence-people theme. The general idea is that if one would make and keep friends one had best watch his behavior in his contacts with others.

Each day pointers are given which are calculated to improve one's public relations and on the whole the advice is sound.

This department is not attempting to muscle in this field nor does it intend to be critical but there was a suggestion loosed last week which, if followed, could get one involved in a lot of things he doesn't wish to be involved in.

Too many people, the arbiter of manners and charm says, answer the telephone in an abrupt or disinterested manner.

The inference is that if we answer the phone in a warm friendly tone and with a lilt in our voice we will lay the foundation for a long and enduring friendship.

The writer of the manners feature professes to be amazed at the number of people who do not give off sweetness and light when they answer a phone. The writer of this column is not amazed.

People have become wary of phone calls. They fear a trap. Being abrupt or disinterested when they answer is merely a defense mechanism.

It doesn't pay to be too friendly or enthusiastic until the caller is identified and his purpose ascertained. The odds are better than even money that the caller has something to sell... maybe it is real estate... maybe it is stock... maybe it is only a mop or vanilla. Whatever it is if one answers in a warm, friendly manner only to discover that he has been betrayed he is, of course, resentful but his predominant feeling is one of confusion. And confused he becomes a perfect patsy. Before he can take the offensive he finds himself fumbling about with inane words and wham!... he has been hooked.

The fellow who answers in an abrupt or disinterested manner is already alert and better able to cope with the situation. He is like the fighter who heads the referee's admonition "to come out fighting and protect yourself at all times."

All manner of hucksters have turned to the telephone to make their pitch. Someone may want to put new siding on your house... someone may want to install a new roof... new windows... sell you a lot in Florida... in Illinois... on a lake in Wisconsin or Minnesota... a farm in Canada or Arkansas, Texas, Montana, Missouri... sell you mining stocks... uranium stocks... stocks in companies that are new and will revolutionize industry... stocks in tired old companies that are about to get a new lease on life... how about some bonds today... here is an excellent buy on vitamins in lots of 50,000... share them with your friends or leave them to your heirs... how is your insurance... and here is a chance to get in on the ground floor of a cause, be it good, bad or indifferent.

Critics of the abrupt and disinterested method of answering phones contend that even if one invites the caller to get going to that place where heating is not a problem or to drop dead the message should be delivered in a friendly tone. Others contend that the use of a friendly tone in those circumstances fails to carry conviction.

And what about the drunks that call in the early morning hours firmly convinced that your number should be the one they are trying to get. A friendly "get lost" will get you nowhere.

The telephone has a legitimate and useful place in business but one should be on guard against the pitchmen.

And one more morsel of advice. If someone calls you and starts to tell how you can get a lot of service, a lot of money or slathers of valuable merchandise ABSOLUTELY AND POSITIVELY FREE--hang up. It will save you money.

South Cook 4-H Fair Association reorganized and new officers were elected at a recent meeting. The officers are: president, Henry Veldhuizen, Glenwood; vice-president, Melvin Hoger, Matteson; secretary, Frank Sanders, Palos Park; treasurer - Melvin Keup, Tinley Park.

The board started on plans for the 1961 4-H Fair to be held in August. The fair will be held at the Fred A. Francis 4-H field, west of Mokena. This is the new 4-H grounds recently built in Will county.

Other members of the South Cook 4-H Fair board for this year are: George Kloss, Chicago Heights; Ray Meyer, Erwin Engelhardt, Tinley Park; Herbert Kohl, Matteson; Norman Strassenburg, Mokena.

Again this year, the University of Illinois College of Agriculture will open its doors for the third annual Farm and Home Festival. The theme of the giant show will be "Foundations for the Future". The dates are April 6, 7 and 8. The theme will be developed around four major exhibit areas designed to show how basic research today may open up new horizons for living in the future.

T. A. Hieronymus, Ag. Economist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture believes that raising soybean support price to $2.30 a bushel would be a serious mistake. He believes this action would be reversing a sound policy that has worked well. This policy which was initiated by soybean growers and carried out by the USDA, has been set to support prices low enough so that competitive market prices could guide soybean production and use. As a result of this policy, the market for soybeans has shown a tremendous growth. Growers of soybeans in the major production areas can see the difference between policies followed with soybeans and other crops. They know that the soybean price support policies have worked, while other support programs have failed as evidenced by tremendous surpluses in feeding grains and wheat.

As a part of the Farm and Home Festival, the College of Agriculture is conducting a guest day for high school students interested in a career in agriculture. All high school administrators and counselors have received information about this program.

The program will start with a welcome by the university president, David D. Henry and will conclude with an inspiring talk by Dean Carl Gardner, called "Opportunities Unlimited".

Other program features include a discussion of college expenses and financial aid, and a report from a freshman student who is completing his first year as an Illinois.

Guest day participants will have an opportunity to participate in eight interesting group sessions dealing with plant and animal sciences, economics, education and journalism, engineering, forestry, veterinary medicine and food technology. Additional information about the guest day can be obtained from high school counselors or from my office.

According to a recent study, only 34 percent of rural farm boys are planning to attend college, compared with 55 percent of the urban boys. Only 20 percent of the urban boys are undecided about college, while 27 percent of the farm boys can't make up their minds.

Washington Newsletter

by CONG. N. M. MASON

Factories and steel mills in Europe are working at full time while steel mills in the United States are only working at about 55% capacity. Why?

Workers in American steel mills are paid as high as $3 an hour, while the workers in steel mills of Europe are paid from 70¢ per hour in Germany to 89¢ per hour in England. This difference in hourly wage before the Second World War was largely offset by the difference between the antiquated methods and mills of Europe and our modern American steel mills.

Since the war, with its resultant destruction of the factories of Europe and their replacement by American modern steel mills -- largely paid for by American taxpayers -- the combination of cheap labor and modern plants in Europe has had a tremendous impact upon American steel production and upon American labor wage scales.

The direct effect of this is to be seen all around us -- in the Volkswagens, Fords, Austins, and Dauphines; in foreign-made transformers, generators and transmission towers; in nails, wire, steel pipes, etc., replacing American-made products made with American labor.

Nearly one-half of the portable typewriters sold in America are made abroad. The same is true of watches, sewing machines, etc. The impressive well-equipped competition from abroad, with its low employment costs, technical know-how and modern machinery largely provided by us, plus aggressiveness and skill in worldwide selling, has become a real threat to our American economy and our American labor. Some of its effects are:

1. A great pressure upon American prices.

2. A real profit squeeze on American business.

3. A heavy pressure for lower costs of production.

4. A consequent trend toward lower wages in American industries.

What can be done in the face of this serious competition from abroad?

First: Congress must provide a more rapid and generous depreciation allowance on all new machinery installations.

Second: Congress must take a new look at our tax structure that affects American business and industry. American business and industry should not be forced to carry a heavier tax load than its European competitors.

Third: To fight this foreign competitive fire with fire power of our own, American labor must recognize the problem these growing foreign imports impose. American industry and American labor are riding together in the same boat -- our American economy. If our American economy is to be kept afloat, if it is to be kept prosperous, mutual cooperation between these two factors in our economy is a matter of life and death.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL,

Ass't Farm Adviser

The warm weather of the past few weeks started the grass

turning green. Proper care early in the season will give the lawn a good start and will make summer maintenance easier.

As soon as the soil is firm

enough to walk on, the yard

should be raked to remove winter debris and matted grass.

Bare or thin spots should be re-seeded with a permanent grass of the same type as that already established in the lawn.

An extra heavy application of a complete fertilizer can be made early because with the grass nearly dormant and sufficient moisture in the soil, the grass is not easily burned. Twenty pounds of 10-10-10, 10-6-4

or a similar analysis applied to each 1000 square feet of lawn will keep the lawn actively growing until early summer.

When the soil dries so that a small ball of soil crumbles

in your hand, the lawn can be rolled. Rolling smooths the soil and firms the sod. Use a roller that weighs about 100 pounds for every foot of width.

Using too heavy a roller or rolling the lawn when it is too wet causes compaction of the soil.

The World Flower & Garden

Show will open at the new Mc-

Cormick Hall on Saturday

March 11. From all indications it should be the finest flower show ever held in the Chicago area. This will be the only major flower show held in Chicago

this year and has the full support of all garden club and Florist organizations.

Persons planning to attend

can purchase tickets at a savings from local garden clubs and flower shops.

Established trees benefit from fertilization before active growth begins. When growth begins, the nutrients from the fertilizers are then immediately available for uptake and use by the plants.

Although liquid feeding is usually more desirable for feeding trees than dry feeding, most gardeners do not have the equipment necessary. To get the most effective use of dry fertilizers on trees, the fertilizer

should be placed in the soil rather than on top. With a soil auger or pipe, punch holes in the ground around the tree. The holes should be about one foot deep and should be spaced about two feet apart

in circles around the trunk of the tree. Begin the smallest

The amount of fertilizer to use depends on the size of the tree. A good rule of thumb is to apply 1 1/2 pounds of 10-

10-10, 10-8-6 or a comparable fertilizer per inch of trunk diameter on trees larger than three inches in diameter.

Fruit trees growing in the lawn should be treated the same as shade grass under the fruit trees, the fertilizer can be broadcast on the ground under the tree.

The amount of fertilizer to use on fruit trees depends on the age of the tree. On trees up to five years old use 4 pounds of 10-10-10 or 10-8-6 per tree.

On trees up to 15 years old use 10 pounds per tree, on older trees up to 20 pounds, 10-10-10 or 10-8-6 is the analysis of the fertilizer. Many different brands of fertilizer carry these analyses. The analysis is the guaranteed percent of nutrients in the fertilizer and is printed on the bag of all good fertilizers. The numbers represent the percentage of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, in that order, contained in the bag.

Plan Grade School Mat Meet At L-W

Traveling Trophy For Winner, Individuals Will Get Prizes

Grade school boys who have displayed skill in wrestling will have an opportunity to match it in the third annual elementary school mat tournament to be held at Lincoln-Way high school April 15. All grade schools in the Lincoln-Way district can enter.

To aid the youngsters prep for the tournament Coaches Ron Larsen and Tom Flanagan at Lincoln-Way have arranged practice sessions. High school wrestlers will be assigned to each grade school as instructors.

"It was our feeling," said Larsen, "that this activity would be a good opportunity to acquaint the younger students with the sport in which each can compete with someone of equal weight."

There are nine weight divisions—70 lbs., 79 lbs., 87 lbs., 95 lbs., 103 lbs., 120 lbs., 129 lbs., 135 lbs., and unlimited.

Each school may enter one boy only in each weight class. It is figured a school can enter from one to 10 boys. Boys can enter as an unattached entry on their own.

A traveling trophy will be awarded to the winning school. It will become the permanent possession of the school that wins it three years in a row. Individual awards will be given winners of 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th places in each weight class.

Instructions have been sent out to each school explaining the rules, the scoring and all the other details.

Last year eight schools entered the tournament — Ann Rutledge, Mokena, New Lenox, St. Joseph, St. Jude, St. Mary, Summit Hill and Weitendorf.

JUST GETTING VOICES BACK again after a season of considerable strain and stress as a result of a hectic basketball season which saw Lincoln-Way tie for the SWS conference championship, the first sports title the school has won in its brief history. While the Knights won many of their games by comfortable margins it seems they had more than their share of close ones, some going into overtime, and this — anyone will attest — puts a strain on the larynx as well as the heart. These attractive young ladies played quite a part in running fans out of voice, practically running out of voice themselves in the process. From left to right: Jackie Zitter, Lincoln Estates, a junior; Gayle Harling, Mokena, a senior; Carroll Muehler, Mokena, a junior and Jane Berlin, New Lenox, a senior.

Speech Team From L-W 3rd In Sectional

Lincoln-Way high school speech team finished third in the Sectional Speech Contest held at Reavis high school on Saturday and sends one representative to the state speech tournament in Champaign on April 7-8.

Pat Loucks scored most of Lincoln-Way's points in the sectional with a first place in prose reading and a third in verse. This was good for eight of Lincoln-Way's points.

Pat read "A Tree, A Rock, and A Cloud" by Carston McCullers in the prose contest which she won for Lincoln-Way.

Mike Tate scored Lincoln-Way's other two points with a fourth place finish in extemporaneous speaking.

Coaches Mel Donaho and Lon Cordelle indicated that this will end the speech contest work for the year. Pat Loucks will be the only exception.

Thornton Fractional South, finished in first place with 33 points, distant second came Proviso East with 12, Lincoln-Way was third with 10 points.

Lincoln-Way sent four other contestants from the District to the sectional: Sue Blomquist, Larry Brolich, James Lakin and Tim Mathews.

New Lenox Girl Leads In Decal Queen Contest

Pam Clark, of New Lenox, is leading in the Decal Queen contest sponsored by the band-booster group of Lincoln-Way high school.

She has 16.1 percentage points, according to those in charge of the contest, which is three-tenths of one percent ahead of the next two contestants, Sue Mazurek, Mokena and Leona Guzik, Frankfort, who are tied for second with 15.8 percentage points. Alice DeLay Manhattan, is fourth with 13%.

Those in charge of the contest explained how it is run. Because the communities in the Lincoln-Way district vary considerably in size the sales of decals are not reported numerically but the returns from each town is reported on a percentage basis.

The contest will end April 8 when the queen will be crowned at a dance to be given at the school proceeds from the sale of decals, which advertise the Lincoln-Way high school band, will be utilized to meet expenses of the band.

CHURCH SMORGASBORD The Friendly circle of St. John's United Church of Christ of Mokena will serve their annual smorgasbord, Tuesday, March 21 from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at Richardson's meat market or at the Tuptle Electric shop, or at the door the evening of the supper.

Former Resident Of Frankfort Dies In Indiana

Mrs. Lulu Baumann Whitcomb, 72 years old, formerly of Frankfort died Saturday, March 11 in the home of her son, Leo at Marion, Ind. Funeral services were held Monday, March 13 from Spindler-Koelling Lincoln-Way Chapel, Matteson with the Rev. Erich Bizzzer, officiating. Burial was in Pleasant Hill cemetery, Frankfort.

The former Lulu Baumann lived in Frankfort until her marriage to Otis Whitcomb in 1927 when the couple moved to Matteson. Following the death of her husband in March 1954 she moved to the home of her son at Marion, Ind.

Besides her son Leo she is survived by another son Sheldon also of Marion, Ind.; a sister Mrs. Edith Lambrecht of Frankfort; two brothers Arthur Baumann of Frankfort and Fred Baumann of Evanston and four grandchildren.

L-W Citizen Committees To Tour School

Members of the various Lincoln-Way high school citizens committees are planning an open house tonight (March 16), as a part of their regular monthly meeting. All of the new addition to the school recently completed will be carefully inspected by the groups as well as many of the older departments. Considerable interest was indicated at the last meeting as to how the new classrooms, shops, music rooms, etc. were being utilized as well as what some of the future building problems would entail.

The tours will be conducted in small groups and will start immediately after the general meeting is called to order at 8:00 p.m.

Behind Scene Crew Pushes Play Plans

When the curtain goes up on the sixth production of the Lincolnway Community Players next week the applause will be all for the actors, of course, but also deserving will be the people behind the scenes. This production, "Kiss and Tell," a happy comedy, is to be staged the nights of March 23, 24 and 25 and a lot of work has gone into it.

Arthur Scottman, father of Virginia Sherwood, the director, built the sets and Larry Brolich, with the help of Judy Bailey, took care of the painting.

Edward Flynn, who also is stage manager, is in charge of lighting. Lighting, it was pointed out, can make or break a piece. Flynn is assisted by Dave Robinson.

Mrs. Stuart Morrison and Mrs. Mary Zemeske are in charge of make-up. Two women also are in charge of state properties, Mrs. Rosemary Wheeler and Mrs. Alice Neid-ranghaus. Mrs. Caroline Mazurek is serving as prompter.

Mrs. Leo M. Marcoux has charge of the tickets and the program.

The drama group of the freshmen and sophomore classes at Lincoln-Way will supply the ushers and also take over the distribution of refreshments.

A theatrical production, it was pointed out, is made up of many parts and if one is missing the whole suffers.

Tickets for "Kiss and Tell," are available now and while it is expected some may be had at the door the nights of the performances, those in charge suggest the wisest course would be to get them ahead of time.
